

Talk of the town

Model Sharon celebrated her birthday this Friday with a 'girls only' bash at Liquids. Best friend Snigdha and her other pals made sure they made the most of the occasion. Since it was also the ladies' night, none of the pretty women missed the company of boys. After

Sharon cut the cake, all the girls - Malvika, Surabhi, Shivani, Mehabeeb, Sanjana, Sona and Madhu Shalini - headed for the dance and had a blast. And to top it, later, the same gang cut another cake at Sharon's house and had another wild party! We know the girls didn't want male company but we're sure, the boys must have really felt sore about missing out on this one!

■ A group of concerned individuals in the city recently got together to start a forum for discussing issues of public concern. They invited Prof Aditya Mukherjee from JNU for a talk on Nehruvian Socialism and Manmohanomics at Saptaparini. It was an intellectual event. Magsaysay award winner social activist Shanta Sinha inaugurated the session and set the ball rolling while Prof Mukherjee's observations ignited an enthusiastic discussion among the participants. In the middle of the session, there was a power failure, but the many candles assured the discussion went on uninterrupted.

ed. MR Vikram, one of the organisers along with Ajay Gandhi, called it the longest candle light speech in recent times! Seen at the event were Prof Rajan Harshe, Geeta Gauri, Sudhakar Reddy, Manmohan Singh, Prof K Krishnamurthy, Dr Subash Kaul, Mohan Krishna Reddy, Navneet Pittie and Ranganath. The satisfied guests came back with an intellectual halo!
